Evaluation Brief

Name of Bidding Company	B.E. Publishing
Title of the textbook, program, or series (print/digital)	EduTyping.com
Subject Area	Keyboarding
Annotation or description that provides an overview of the instructional materials bid	EduTyping.com is a 100% web-based keyboarding platform that provides a wide range of interactive instructional lessons and teaching tools to teach K–12 keyboarding online. Educators enjoy the flexibility to provide students with relevant, up-to-date content, typing games, and competitions that keep students motivated and engaged as they learn. In addition to lessons targeting all the keys on the alphabetic keyboard and numeric keypad and emphasizing proper finger placement and typing technique, EduTyping includes additional lessons in computer applications, digital literacy, and professional business documents. EduTyping.com includes both Elementary and Secondary keyboarding curriculum options utilizing a proven, research-based methodology to advance students through structured lessons, reinforcement units, and assessments as they achieve touch typing mastery. EduTyping's Elementary keyboarding curriculum has been developed to meet the needs of all students in Grades K-5. Instructors have the option to select from specially-designed, grade-by-grade curricula, each built to address the unique learning objectives at each specific grade level from Kindergarten to Grade 5, or the all-inclusive EduTyping, Jr. curriculum where students progress at their own pace. EduTyping Secondary follows a traditional keyboarding curriculum designed for students in Grades 6-12. This robust curriculum features a strong focus on drill-and-practice designed to help students achieve touch typing fluency and master the alphabetic keyboard.
Author's Name and Background	The Development Team at B.E. Publishing B.E. Publishing, Inc. has been a leading publisher of business, career, and technology resources for schools and districts for over 25 years. Michael Gecawich, President, best describes his business philosophy as "students learn by doing," and EduTyping.com and all of B.E. Publishing's classroom resources and keyboarding products reflect this hands-on approach to learning. A former CTE teacher himself, Michael's passion as CEO and founder continues to drive his team to make B.E. Publishing's products among the most engaging, user-friendly, and data-driven software in the education industry.
Copyright of Student Materials	2009
Intended Grade Level	K–5; 6–12
Lexile Level	Unknown
WCAG 2.1 for Section 508 and WCAG Compliance (digital student materials)	Since EduTyping.com is a 100% web-based keyboarding application, its web pages can be "read aloud" by assistive technologies. In addition, a dictation feature built into its typing lessons may be turned on or off. Instructions, including which letters to type and which fingers to use in typing those letters, are read aloud to the student.
Availability of NIMAS File Set (print student materials)	N/A
Available Formats (digital student materials)	Web based
Compliance with IMS Global Standards (digital)	EduTyping.com is a stand-alone website.
Consumable (print)	N/A
Manuscript Format (print/digital)	No
List of Ancillary Materials and Services	Instructor Resources are provided free with an order and are delivered within the EduTyping.com teacher platform. See Ancillary Materials and Services list.
Pupil Edition - Meet the Term of Manufacturing Standards and Specification for Textbooks	N/A
Additional Information	Correlations have been completed to the applicable lessons within the EduTyping.com student platform. Correlated lessons include interactive instructional keyboarding lessons, as well as additional lessons in computer applications, digital literacy, and more which feature downloadable materials and content. Correlations have been provided to material across the entire EduTyping.com platform, including in both Elementary and Secondary curricula.
Name of Publisher's Representative, Phone and Email	Michael Gecawich | 401-829-2485 | michael@bepublishing.com	